"We Bring Extraordinary Stories To Life"

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Documentary Funding Completed and Premiere Scheduled

PRINCETON, KY—July 13, 2013—Award-winning film production company, Marvo Entertainment Group LLC, announces that the anonymous $8,500 challenge grant for “My Kentucky Home: Woodford County” has been met. The final two underwriters have come on board to complete full funding for the two-hour documentary that is scheduled to premiere in Woodford County on August 18, 2013, and will be airing in Fall 2013 on PBS affiliate KET.

Joining the list of underwriters is the Kentucky Community and Technical College System in Versailles. KCTCS President Dr. Michael B. McCall commented, “The Kentucky Community and Technical College System is proud to support the “My Kentucky Home: Woodford County” documentary. Our system office in Versailles opened in 2004 and employs more than 200 people. Each year we also welcome hundreds of staff members from all 16 of Kentucky’s community and technical colleges and national speakers/consultants for training sessions, meetings and conferences. It is a pleasure to host them in this charming part of our Commonwealth. With proximity to Frankfort, the interstates and parkways, Woodford County is an ideal home base for KCTCS. We are proud to support this project that highlights all Woodford County has to offer for our employees and guests.”

Just as Marvo’s intent for this documentary is to leave a legacy for the Woodford County community by bringing the extraordinary stories of its people to life, it is the desire of the project’s final underwriter to give special recognition to a family legacy stating, “The Henton Family is proud be an underwriter of this documentary on the unique history and special quality of life of Woodford County in honor of our parents Hampton Harris Henton, Sr. and Doris Smith Henton, lifelong stewards of our beloved community.”

The premiere of “My Kentucky Home: Woodford County” on Sunday, August 18, 2013, will be held at the Falling Springs Arts and Recreation Center Theater from 2:00 p.m. – 4:30 p.m. and is free to the public. Hosting the event will be the Woodford County Historical Society, Woodford County Theatrical Arts Association, and Woodford Tomorrow. The entire community is invited to attend this celebration.

The Woodford County Historical Society is taking orders for the two-hour DVD's. Pre-sale special cost to the public is $25.00 (plus $4.00 shipping if needed) for the set if purchased on or before August 9, 2013. After that date the price will be $30.00 (plus $4.00 shipping if needed). Please contact the Woodford Historical Society, 121 Rose Hill, Versailles (859-873-6786) for purchase of the DVD's and support their mission through the sales of these shows,

Co-Executive Producer Patricia Fralick comments, "Producing this documentary has become a labor of love for me personally. Your beautiful landscapes, passionate people, remarkable history, and dreams for the future are quite compelling. We are excited about the premiere of what promises to be another award winning show in the My Kentucky Home series."

The entire Marvo team extends a special word of thanks to our other contributing underwriters who are spearheading the project: Joe and Debbie Graviss of Graviss McDonald's Restaurants, Pisgah Community Historic Association, Woodford County Historical Society, CastlePost, Calmes Family Association, Midway College, Glenn and Sandi Bromagen, and the Kentucky Film Commission. Also, Marvo's sincere appreciation also goes out to many others who have made contributions to the project.
