

MIKE BENTON

For over ten years Mike Benton has worked in video production, including high-end commercial production, television shows, music videos and documentaries. Mike has served many corporate clients and agencies in the Southeast as director of photography, director and editor. He has produced long-form documentary features, and his music videos have appeared on CMT and GAC cable networks.

His first career job directly from college was as a producer for Big Blue Nation that aired on WKYT and FOX Sports South. After that show he was an editor in local news, editing the morning show for WTVQ, and at a production house in northern Kentucky prior to forming Courage Media.

Since forming his own production company, he has produced local television shows, two feature length documentaries, delayed game telecasts for the Lexington Horsemen, and several pilots and reality shows currently in negotiations.

He continues to sharpen his skill set by taking on new and exciting challenges such as the "My Kentucky Home: Woodford County" documentary.
